

Our Fallen Hero

SPC. Kyle A. Little North Berwick

Little was a baseball fanatic who pitched on youth and school teams growing up, and sported a Boston Red Sox tattoo on his arm.

Little dropped out of high school, feeling it wasn't the place for him, and joined the Army at age 17, a few months before he would have graduated.

Little seemed to mature in the service, which he intended to make his career, his father said.

He was working as a bodyguard during his second tour.
